

Author's Biographical Notes:

Shazaad Ali Shah is the Chief Engineering Technician in the Department of Physics at The University of the West Indies, Trinidad and Tobago. Mr. Ali Shah is currently completing his MPhil in Physics. His research work on water purification was one funded by the Organization of American States which included participants from Argentina, Brazil, Chile Mexico and Peru. He has attended international conferences and has co-authored several conference papers. His research interest is in the areas of solar energy.